Stauff Filtration Technology

Stauff Filtration Technology offers a complete range of filtration products and services that will provide the system designer or user with the highest level of contamination control demanded by today's most sophisticated applications. Products include pressure filters, return line filters, elements, spin on filters suction strainers, and filler breathers for various hydraulic, lubrication and fuel oils.

Stauff has the technical expertise to provide superior filter element designs for the Stauff original filter housings and also for the interchange element market. Stauff manufactures more than 10,000 different elements. Many of these are designed to fit into filter housings produced by other companies while maintaining or surpassing the original performance.

The "Stauff Contamination Control Program" includes the diagnostic services including fluid sampling and laser particle counting products needed to monitor the system contamination level.

Stauff, through its global network of wholly owned companies and technically qualified distributors, is ideally placed to assist its customers in the total contamination process providing a well balanced filtration solution.
